Easy ways to eat more fruits and vegetables

- Cut up raw veggies such as carrots, broccoli, snap peas, or cauliflower and keep on hand for snacks.
- Place a dish of cut-up vegetables or fruit on the table at meal times.
- Top off a bowl of yogurt, cereal or low-fat ice cream with berries or sliced fresh fruit.
- Include a green salad or vegetable soup with lunch or dinner.
- Have a bowl of fruit that's ready to eat on the counter.
- For dinner, make up a salad with lots of chopped veggies. Add cooked chicken or beans, shredded cheese, or chopped nuts for protein.
- Fruit is delicious in salads, too. Try adding apple slices or raisins to your next salad.
- Make smoothies by blending fresh or frozen fruit with milk, and/or 100 percent fruit juice. Try it with ice or yogurt, too.

Storing and preparing fresh fruits and vegetables

- Store most produce in the crisper of your refrigerator, except:
Root vegetables like onions and potatoes should be kept in a cool, dark cupboard or pantry. Tomatoes and unripe fruit should be kept at room temperature until eating.
- Store produce unwashed but always wash fruits and vegetables with running water before eating.
- Greens can be washed in a large bowl or sink of cold water. Change water a couple of times.
- To retain the most nutrients in fresh produce, steam or cook quickly. To steam, place in a pan with a small amount of water and cover. Cook until tender.

Ask for samples of unfamiliar fruits and vegetables.
