What is a Test Site

- In Washington, a “test site” is a location where lab tests are performed by someone other than the person the test is on

Regulatory Definition: WAC 246-338-010(25)(a)

(25) "Medical test site" or "test site" means any facility or site, public or private, which analyzes materials derived from the human body for the purposes of health care, treatment, or screening. A medical test site does not mean:

(a) A facility or site, including a residence, where a test approved for home use by the Federal Food and Drug Administration is used by an individual to test himself or herself without direct supervision or guidance by another and where this test is not part of a commercial transaction;

What is a Medical Test Site License?

It is the license required to perform lab tests in Washington.

- Medical Test Site laws and rules apply to sites in Washington instead of Federal CLIA (Clinical Laboratory Improvement Amendments), as Washington State is exempt from the Federal CLIA law.
- RCW 70.42 & WAC 246-338 licensing laws and rules apply to all Medical Test Sites.

Your Medical Test Site License will include the CLIA number.

- When you get your MTS license, a CLIA number will also be issued to you for billing purposes, to order tests from suppliers, and to report Positive Covid-19 results in SimpleReport. CMS (Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services) also uses this number for tracking purposes.

What is the Medical Test Site Waived License?

It is the license for a site that uses “waived” tests.

- What is waived testing?
  - Waived tests are categorized as simple tests that have an insignificant risk of an erroneous result.
  - The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) determines which tests meet the criteria to be considered a waived test.

Regulatory Definition: WAC 246-338-010 (45)(a)(b)

(45) "Waived test" means a test system that is:

- (a) Cleared by the Food and Drug Administration for home use; or
- (b) A simple laboratory examination or procedure that has an insignificant risk of an erroneous result.

What is an Over-the-Counter (OTC) Test?

- OTC tests are authorized by the FDA for self-testing.
- You collect your own sample, perform the test, and read the result yourself without the need to send a sample to a laboratory.
- FDA authorized OTC tests are available without a prescription. Can be purchased online or at a store.
- OTC tests can also be used by licensed sites.

When is a License Required for Testing?

You will need a license if:

- Your site uses “Waived” test kits not intended for home use, or
- Your staff use an “over-the-counter” test kit on a resident.
  - With “over-the-counter” testing when your staff are directly involved in any part of the testing process including collecting the sample, helping a person understand how to run the test, helping the person complete the test, or helping them read the test result.
- Your site is giving the test results to a medical provider to possibly use for treatment decisions.

There is one exception:

- When someone is helping a child, or an adult (who is unable to test themselves due to a physical disability) and is using an “over-the-counter” test.

When is a License Not Required for Testing?

When the site is not involved in testing

- When the resident is completing an over-the-counter test on themselves without assistance.
- When an employee is given an “over-the-counter” test to take and to perform on themselves.
- When the site is not giving the test result to a medical provider to use for treatment decisions.

What are the Requirements for a Licensed Medical Test Site Waived?

Requirements:

1. The site only uses test kits approved by the FDA as “Waived” or “over-the-counter.”
2. That the site follows the test kit Instructions For Use (IFU’s) exactly.
3. That the site reports positive reportable disease results to the State and/or Local Health Jurisdiction where the patient resides.
4. That the site follows Medical Test Site notification requirements, including updating new contact information or new test kits being used.

Is Staff Training Required?

- Ensure staff:
  - Read and follow the testing package insert or manufacturer's Instructions For Use (IFU) exactly.
  - Train staff according to the manufacturer's test kit instructions for use.
  - If your site chooses to develop an internal policy for testing, we recommend including the instructions for use for the kit you are using.
