- If Yes, explain:

Purpose: WAC 246-980-025 in chapter 246-980 WAC, Home Care Aides, and adopting a new rule section, WAC 246-980-012. Due to impacts from the coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic, long-term care workers experience significant delays when completing training, testing, and certification as a nursing assistant-certified (NA-C). Often these delays prevent workers from meeting statutory or regulatory timeframes. By establishing alternate, extended timeframes for certification, the Department of Health (department) is enabling these workers to continue participating in the healthcare workforce as they pursue NA-C certification.

The department is creating a new section, WAC 246-980-012, which contains alternate certification timeframes for long-term care workers in an approved training program for NA-C. These alternate timeframes were developed in collaboration with the Department of Social and Health Services and the Nursing Care Quality Assurance Commission.

The amendment to WAC 246-980-025 replaces current certification timeframes with a cross-reference to the new rule section, WAC 246-980-012.

EMERGENCY RULE

Under RCW 34.05.350 the agency for good cause finds:

- That immediate adoption, amendment, or repeal of a rule is necessary for the preservation of the public health, safety, or general welfare, and that observing the time requirements of notice and opportunity to comment upon adoption of a permanent rule would be contrary to the public interest.
- That state or federal law or federal rule or a federal deadline for state receipt of federal funds requires immediate adoption of a rule.

Reasons for this finding: During the COVID-19 pandemic, both training and testing were unavailable for several months in 2020 before resuming at a limited capacity. This created a large backlog of long-term care workers needing training, testing, and credentialing as a home care aide or NA-C. While involved agencies and facilities are working to process the backlog as quickly as possible, delays are expected to persist into 2023. So far, workers who are out of compliance with statutory and regulatory guidelines have been able to work under Governor's Proclamations 20-52 and 20-65 (waivers), which waive credentialing requirements. However, these waivers will be rescinded effective October 27, 2022.

After these waivers are rescinded, workers seeking a home care aide credential will be able to continue working under alternate timeframes established by the department and DSHS; however, no similar provision currently exists for workers seeking an NA-C credential. Without alternate timeframes, workers seeking an NA-C credential cannot continue providing patient care after October 27, 2022. Losing these workers would place further strain on the healthcare system.

These emergency rules create alternate timeframes for workers seeking an NA-C credential. This will allow workers to remain in the workforce, providing patient care, while continuing training, testing, and certification. Retaining these workers will help maintain and expand the healthcare workforce, promote access to healthcare, and preserve the public health, safety, and general welfare.
