Objectives for Today

- Know who is a Vulnerable Adult
- Know who is a Mandatory Reporter
- Know what APS investigates
- Know how to make a report and what to expect afterwards
In 1984 the Washington State Legislature passed the Abuse of Vulnerable Adults law, RCW 74.34

The law addresses the reporting and investigation of abuse, abandonment, neglect, self-neglect, and financial exploitation of vulnerable adults and, if allegations are substantiated, protective services.

Who is a Vulnerable Adult?

- Chapter 74.34 RCW and WAC 388-71-0100 provide definitions that apply to the APS program.

A vulnerable adult is defined in RCW 74.34 as:

- Individuals 60 years of age or older who have the functional, mental, or physical inability to care for themselves; and
Who is a Vulnerable Adult?

What Can APS Do?

APS receives and investigates reports of allegations of abuse, abandonment, neglect, self-neglect and financial exploitation of vulnerable adults living in the community and in facilities.
What Can APS Do?

APS conducts investigations at no charge and without regard to the income of the alleged victim.

Some protective services may be provided without cost.

What Can APS Do?

The vulnerable adult or legal representative must give written consent for protective services and may end the services at any time.

APS may pursue a protection order on a vulnerable adult’s behalf without consent if the vulnerable adult lacks the ability or capacity to seek one on his/her own.
What Can APS Do?

• Determine current risk factors and supports for the vulnerable adult by assessing, as warranted: physical, functional and mental abilities, the conditions of the environment, support systems, and relationships

• Provide protective measures for a vulnerable adult alleged victim when necessary

APS Limitations

• APS services are voluntary.
