Recovery Means Healthy Families

No one chooses to have a chronic illness like addiction, but the fact is, addiction touches two out of every three American families.

The good news is that treatment works! Join the 23 million Americans living in recovery by getting the treatment and recovery support you need – even if you can't afford it.

You have priority for free treatment and recovery services, with little or no waiting, if you are Medicaid-eligible, and you are:

- Pregnant and injecting drugs;
- Pregnant and misusing alcohol or drugs;
- A man or woman who injects drugs

Other adults or youth who are low-income may also qualify for free treatment. See if you qualify by applying at www.Healthplanfinder.org
