Hoarding Disorder Assessment, Treatment, and Intervention

As Hoarding Disorder continues to be a growing problem and public health concern, professionals are challenged in finding effective approaches to address the issue. This presentation will provide a brief background of hoarding, assessment tips, effective treatment approaches and information about in-home interventions/cleanouts.

Leslie Shapiro, MA is a Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist Associate in Washington State. In her clinical practice as a mental health therapist for The Hoarding Project and Northwest Relationships in Tacoma, Washington, Leslie works with people who suffer from Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder and Hoarding Disorder. Prior to completing her Master's degree in Couples and Family Therapy at Antioch University Seattle, she worked as a residential organizer and coach. This experience whetted her appetite to better understand clients and acquire the skills necessary to become a therapist. Leslie currently serves as a staff consultant, educator, and mental health therapist for The Hoarding Project in Tacoma, and serves as a member of the King/Pierce County Hoarding Task Force in Western Washington. She can be contacted at leslie@thehoardingproject.org
