Medication Awareness

Many of us feel that we experience, Better living through Chemistry! But do we really??!

In this session we will discuss the role of medications in our health and wellbeing. We will discuss the difference between treatment; cures; and management of symptoms. We will consider side effects; adverse reactions and extra pyramidal reactions and their implications on the short as well as long term. We will explore the impact pharmacological interventions have in the management of symptoms.

We will also consider systems that ensure medications are provided according to regulations. i.e. maintaining MAR's: the 5 (no 6) rights of medication management, storing, organizing, securing and disposing of medications; the role of the delegating nurse; pharmacist and the clinician.

Shanti Potts has over 25 years' experience working with and advocating for seniors, with a passion for teaching and learning. She works extensively with unpaid family caregivers and professional care providers. She has been employed as an instructor at Clark Community College, Lower Columbia Community College, Area Agency on Aging & Disabilities of SW Washington, Developmental Disabilities Administration & PeaceHealth Southwest Medical Center. Shanti has presented at conferences for the King County Prosecutor's office, the Alzheimer's Association, the Clark County Bar Association, the Nisqually Tribal Elders, Clark County Sheriff's Crisis Intervention trainings, and various other local organizations.
