Dual Diagnosis

Presented by Vener Azurin

"Working with people who are diagnosed with both mental illness and developmental/intellectual disabilities can be challenging.

Staff with a deeper understanding of dual diagnosis will be able to provide better-informed care.

Attendees will learn about anxiety disorders, psychotic disorders, depression, and personality disorders, and will discover how they may present in people with developmental disabilities.

Also covered are the challenges of diagnosing mental illness in people with developmental disabilities, various treatment approaches, and how treatments may be adapted to best serve people with dual diagnosis."

Class Size: Limited to 30 Participants
