Domestic Violence Program Overview

The Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) domestic violence program distributes significant state and federal funding dedicated to providing emergency shelter and supportive services for victims of domestic violence and their dependent children. Domestic violence programs consistently report that DSHS funding is critical to keeping their doors open and providing life-saving services to members of their communities. Data provided in this section highlights the following domestic violence services:

- Shelter and Supportive Services – Local domestic violence programs provide emergency shelter to victims of domestic violence and their dependent children. In addition to shelter, residents receive supportive services such as advocacy, legal assistance, access to support groups and other specialized services based on each person’s unique needs. The majority of service recipients, however, receive non-shelter based services such as advocacy, assistance with protection orders and other legal issues, and access to support groups.

Additional information, including the eligibility criteria, funding sources, and services/benefits provided, is available here (see full document for the link).

Highlights

Local domestic violence programs served a total of 17,783 victims and their children in SFY 2021, of whom 3,996 received emergency shelter based services and 13,787 received non-shelter based services.

In SFY 2021, the 39 domestic violence shelter programs provided 157,200 shelter bed nights to victims and their families. Victims stayed in shelter an average of 39 days in SFY 2021.

TECHNICAL NOTES

DATA SOURCES: Data reported in this chapter were based on the InfoNet database maintained by Washington State Department of Commerce as of November 2021.

DATA NOTES:

- Data is collected from 39 domestic violence shelter/safe home agencies in 39 counties that contract with the Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS)/Economic Services Administration. Contractors provide emergency domestic violence shelter and advocacy services.
- Service numbers include all data reported into the statewide InfoNet data collection system during state fiscal year 2021.
- Data reflects only the emergency domestic violence shelter and supportive services provided by DSHS domestic violence services contractors.
