Background of Apple Health Expansion

2022

- ◉ Legislature provided funding to operationalize this program and directed HCA to prepare to implement Apple Health Expansion.

2023

- ◉ Legislature directed HCA to develop a program providing equivalent Medicaid health care coverage to uninsured adults who are ineligible for other federal assistance. The proviso directed the agency to implement on July 1, 2024.
 - ▶ Program funding was not at the level requested.
 - ▶ Recognize there are more immigrant community members who would be enrolled for this program than funding can support.

Apple Health Expansion – Eligibility

- ◉ Adults age 19 or older:
 - ▶ Countable income under 138% of the federal poverty level.
 - ▶ Do not qualify for other Apple Health programs based on immigration status.
 - ▶ Are not eligible for federal advance premium tax credits through the individual market.
- ◉ Implementation of Apple Health Expansion will provide a full scope coverage option.
- ◉ Individuals enrolled in Medical Care Services, Apple Health for Pregnant Individuals, After - Pregnancy Coverage, and Apple Health for Kids will remain in those full scope programs:
 - ▶ As individuals age out of pregnancy coverage or the Apple Health for Kids program, their eligibility is redetermined and if they are eligible for another program they are enrolled.
 - ▶ This process applies to Apple Health Expansion if they meet eligibility requirements and there is space available.

- ✓ Demonstrates that they were persecuted or fear persecution due to race, religion, nationality, political opinion, or membership in a particular social group
- ✓ Is not firmly resettled in another country

- Asylum process can be affirmative, defensive, or happen through an Asylum Merits Interview and be granted by USCIS or an immigration judge, depending on the process
- 180-day asylum EAD clock

Asylees: Individuals granted asylum

Credit: Human Rights First

Humanitarian Parolees

Granted parole and permission to enter the U.S. as an arriving immigrant

- Individuals who are outside of the U.S. may request parole into the U.S. temporarily based on urgent humanitarian or significant public benefit reasons.
- Examples include:
 - Afghan humanitarian parolees who arrived through Operation Allies Refuge (OAR) or Operation Allies Welcome (OAW)
 - Ukrainian humanitarian parolees arriving through Uniting for Ukraine (U4U)
 - Individuals arriving through the Cubans, Haitians, Nicaraguans, and Venezuelans (CHNV) parole process

Granted parole after arrival in the U.S.

- Individuals in removal proceedings may be granted parole and released from detention for humanitarian or significant public benefit reasons.
- Length of time that parole is granted varies, but individuals in removal proceedings who are paroled into the U.S. are often paroled for just a few weeks or months.

Temporary Protected Status (TPS)

What is TPS?

- The Secretary of Homeland Security may designate a country for TPS due to conditions in that country that temporarily prevent the country's nationals from returning safely, or in certain circumstances, where the country is unable to handle the return of its nationals adequately.

Who is eligible for TPS?

- Eligible nationals of the designated countries who are already in the U.S.
- Eligible individuals without nationality who last resided in the designated country.
- Individuals must have been continuously physically present in the U.S. since the effective date of the most recent designation date of their country and have been continuously residing in the U.S. since the date specified for their country.

How long can someone have TPS status?

- TPS is temporary and does not, in and of itself, lead to lawful permanent resident status or any other more permanent immigrant status.
- A TPS designation for a country can expire. The Department of Homeland Security determines the initial registration and re-registration (if the country is re-designated for TPS) periods, which differ depending on the designated country.
