

Service Needs

Youth come to JRA with complex disorders that are at the root of their criminal behavior and require dynamic treatment services. JRA tracks the percentage of youth who require services in the following areas:

- Mental Health
- Substance Abuse
- Sexual Offending/Misconduct
- Cognitive Impairment
- Medically Fragile

This November 2011 snapshot shows the percentage of JRA youth needing services in each of these areas:

Co-Occurring Disorders

Over 80% of JRA youth, in both residential care and parole aftercare, have two, three or four of the disorders identified above. This November 2011 snapshot illustrates this complexity of service needs among JRA youth:
