You must help DCS establish, modify, or enforce child support for the child(ren) in your care, and establish paternity (if necessary). You may refuse to cooperate with DCS if you can show that you have a good reason to believe that cooperating with DCS puts you, your children, or the children in your care at risk of harm from the noncustodial parent.
- Apply for and make a reasonable effort to get potential income from other sources when you ask for or receive cash assistance.
- Complete required reports and reviews.
- Follow work requirements for cash assistance and food assistance.

- Give you a receipt if you ask for one when you provide documents.
- Give you a written decision, in most cases, within 30 days.
- You may refuse to speak to a Fraud Early Detection (FRED) investigator from the Office of Fraud and Accountability. You do not have to let the investigator into your home. You may ask the investigator to come back at another time. This will not affect your eligibility for assistance.
- You may ask for an administrative hearing if you disagree with a decision the department makes on my case. You may also ask a supervisor or administrator to review the disputed decision or action without affecting your rights to an administrative hearing.
- We must inform you of the 60-month time limit rule under the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program. This time limit does not apply to your Basic Food, or child care subsidies.

Things You Should Know About your EBT Card

- Misuse of Benefits: Food and cash benefits distributed through the EBT card will provide DSHS with a history of transactions where you have used your benefits. The department will use transaction information in investigations of misuse of cash assistance benefits or the exchange of food assistance benefits for cash or other items of value (trafficking).
- EBT card replacement: We may charge for replacement EBT cards. Keep your EBT card and your personal identification number (PIN) safe and secure.
- High Balance EBT Cards: If you do not use your benefits for months at a time or accumulate a high balance after several months, we may contact you to review your situation or your need for benefits.

Things You Should Know (Basic Food)

- We do send information about persons applying for Basic Food to other Federal agencies to check that the information is correct. If any information is incorrect, the persons who apply may not get Basic Food. If a person provides information that they know is incorrect, they could be criminally prosecuted. Penalties for intentionally breaking Basic Food rules vary from disqualification from the program, to fines, or possibly imprisonment.
- If you sell, attempt to sell, exchange or donate your food assistance for anything of value such as cash, drugs, weapons, or anything other than food from an authorized retailer (trafficking), you may be disqualified from receiving food assistance benefits for a minimum period of one year up to a maximum lifetime disqualification on the first offense. This disqualification continues even if you leave the State of Washington and apply for benefits in another state.
- If you are required to participate in Basic Food work requirements, and fail to participate, you can be disqualified for one month and until you comply with work requirements for the first failure; three months and until you comply for the second failure; and six months and until you comply for the third time and each time thereafter.
- You may be removed from the Basic Food program for breaking a Basic Food program rule as described in the Basic Food penalty warning listed on this page.
- Report household expenses if you want the department to include these costs for Basic Food. If you don't report and provide proof of these expenses, then you are stating you don't want us to use these expenses to decide if you can get more Basic Food.

Things You Should Know (Cash)

- By getting Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) you assign your child and spousal support rights to the Division of Child Support. This means that DCS may keep support owed to you, up to the amount of the public assistance that you received. You must tell DCS immediately if you received child support payments or benefits for the child while on TANF.
- If you stop getting TANF you must tell DCS about any changes that affect child support, such as the child moved or my address changed.
- If you get TANF, you may ask for extra money to help pay for temporary emergency housing costs.
