

Wise Wraparound with Intensive Services

HEALTH CARE AUTHORITY (HCA) AND CONTRACTED PROVIDERS

Introduction

The Washington State Health Care Authority (HCA) is the single State agency designated to administer or supervise the administration of the Medicaid program under title XIX of the Social Security Act. HCA covers mental health services for all clients. Mental health services are provided by licensed professionals including: psychologists, mental health counselors, independent clinical (or advanced) social workers, and marriage and family therapists. Psychiatric services are provided by licensed psychiatrists and psychiatric advanced registered nurse practitioners (P-ARNPs). Benefits managed by the Health Care Authority are available to: 1) those clients who do not meet the Access to Care Standards (ACS) as established in the Washington State Mental Health Plan and in compliance with Title XIX of the Federal Social Security Act, and therefore are not receiving care through the Behavioral Health Organization (BHO) community mental health clinics, or 2) those clients who no longer require the intensity of mental health service available through the BHO and can be managed under the mental health providers available through Apple Health. In regions that have Fully Integrated Managed Care (FIMC), these services are coordinated through a managed care plan. HCA contracted providers support the WISE program by assuring all youth are appropriately referred to the BHO or a FIMC Managed Care plan for mental health services.

What is WISE?

Washington State's Wraparound with Intensive Services (WISE)* provides comprehensive behavioral health services and supports to Medicaid eligible youth, up to 21 years of age, with complex behavioral health needs. WISE is designed to provide individualized, culturally competent services that strive to keep youth with intense mental health needs safe in their own homes and communities, while reducing unnecessary hospitalizations. WISE offers a higher level of care through these core components:

- The Time and Location of services: WISE is community-based. Services are provided in locations and at times that work best for the youth and family, such as in the family home and on evenings and weekends.

- Team-based Approach: Using a Wraparound model, WISE relies on the strengths of an entire team to meet the youth and family's needs. Intensive care coordination between all partners and team members is essential in achieving positive outcomes. Each team is individualized and includes the youth, family members, natural supports, a therapist, a youth partner and/or family partner, and members from other child-serving systems when they are involved in a youth's life. Other team members could include family friends, school personnel, a probation officer, a religious leader, a substance use disorder treatment provider, or a coach/teacher. The team creates ONE Cross-System Care Plan that identifies strategies and supports, using the youth and family's voice and choice to drive their plan.
- Help during a crisis: Youth and families have access to crisis services any time of the day, 365 days a year. Youth receive services by individuals who know the youth and family's needs and circumstances, as well as their current crisis plan. Whenever necessary, this includes face-to-face interventions at the location where the crisis occurs.

How Does Someone Access WISE?

A youth must receive Medicaid or be Medicaid eligible to receive WISE services.

Referrals for a WISE screen can be made at any time in counties that have implemented WISE. WISE is rolling out across Washington through June 2018; therefore it may not be available yet in your part of the state. To find out if WISE is available in your area and who to contact go to: <http://www.dshs.wa.gov/dbhr/cbh-wise.shtml>.

If WISE is not yet available in your part of the state, and you believe a youth would benefit from mental health services, use the contact information found on this site: <https://www.dshs.wa.gov/bha/division-behavioral-health-and-recovery/mental-health-services-and-information> to make a referral, or call the Recovery Helpline, toll free at 866-789-1511.

Overview of the T.R. et al. v. Kevin Quigley and Dorothy Teeter Lawsuit

In November 2009, a Medicaid lawsuit was filed (formerly called T.R. v. Dreyfus) against the Department of Social and Health Services and the Health Care Authority about intensive mental health services for children and youth. The lawsuit is based on federal EPSDT (Early and Periodic Screening, Diagnosis and Treatment) laws that require states to provide mental health services and treatment to children who need them, even if the services have not been provided in the past. After several years of negotiations, both sides agreed on a plan that they believe will put them in compliance with the laws, and most importantly, work for youth and families in Washington State. The federal court approved this Settlement Agreement on December 19, 2013. The goal of the Settlement Agreement is to develop a system that provides intensive mental health services in home and community settings that work - for Medicaid eligible youth up to 21 years of age.

When Should I Refer Youth for a WISE Screen?

A WISE screen is required when:

- Youth and families self-refer, by requesting a screen for WISE.
- There has been a request for out-of-home treatment or placement substantially related to unmet mental health needs.
- There has been a step-down request from institutional or group home care.
- There has been crisis intervention and the youth presents with past or current functional indicators* of need for intensive mental health services.

* Functional indicators include: an inpatient mental health stay; multiple out of home placement stays; Juvenile Rehabilitation services or adjudication; use of multiple psychotropic medications; anorexia/bulimia; substance use disorder; and suicide attempt or self-injury

You should consider referring youth for a WISE screening if the youth who, primarily due to a suspected or identified mental health difficulty, is:

- Eligible for BHO level of services, but has needs at a higher than average severity
- Presenting with serious behavioral health issues
- Having a high-level of parent-child or family conflict due to a mental health difficulty
- Involved in with multiple systems (i.e., child welfare, juvenile justice, substance use disorder treatment)
- At risk of out-of-home placements, such as foster/group care, Children's Long Term Inpatient Program (CLIP) or acute hospitalization
- In Special Education and/or has a 504 Plan, with multiple school suspensions for mental health and/or behavioral issues
- At risk based on a history of running away or disengaging from care due to mental health difficulties

What Information is Needed for the Referral?

When making a referral, please have as much of the following information available as possible:

- Youth's name and date of birth
- Youth's Provider One Identification Number
- Caregiver's name and relationship
- Any known child-serving system involvement (legal/justice involvement)
- Risk factors (i.e., suicide risk, danger to self or others, runaway, medication management)
- Knowledge of the youth's personal life (i.e., living situation, school functioning, physical health)
- Known arrests and number of convictions
- Number of hospital emergency room visits (any for mental health or substance abuse)
- Any psychiatric prescription medications taken (currently or in the past)

- Reported diagnoses
- Name of current insurance plan (managed care or Fee-For-Service)
- Need for spoken language or American Sign Language interpreter services

What Happens Once I Make a Referral?

When working with a youth who is not currently receiving but is eligible for Medicaid-funded mental health services:

- Youth and family are educated about WISE and its benefits, and agree to participate.
- Youth are referred to a screening entity.
- A screen is completed by a designated provider to determine whether a youth's needs appear to rise to the WISE level of care. They use the administration of the Washington Child and Adolescent Needs and Strengths (CANS) tool to make this initial screening determination. This screening tool can be completed over the phone or in-person.
- When the screening tool shows that WISE services could potentially benefit a youth, youth are referred to a WISE agency so that an intake evaluation can be completed.
- The intake process is used to determine whether services are medically necessary and whether the youth meets Access to Care standards. Determining whether a youth meets medical necessity is required to provide any Medicaid mental health service to a person. Eligibility for WISE services is also determined at this time.
- When it is determined that a youth does not meet the WISE level of care, they are referred to other mental health services, as appropriate, to have their needs addressed.

When working with a youth who is currently receiving Medicaid-funded mental health services:

- Youth and family are educated about WISE and its benefits, and agree to participate.
- Referral to a WISE service provider can be done through coordination with the youth's current clinician, or by making a referral to a screening entity.

As a Key Partner, What is my Role?

WISE uses a team-based approach to meeting the needs of each youth and family. You may be invited to participate on a youth's Child and Family Team, to strategize and support the team in meeting the team's mission. Child-serving system partners are critical for achieving successful outcomes.

Special Considerations

HCA's role is unique in that our providers have an opportunity to serve youth with a lower level of need. When a client is identified as needing a higher level of care, referrals to the BHO are made; a screening for WISE may be part of that referral. HCA contracted providers have a responsibility to assure appropriate level of care, in an appropriate place, at the appropriate time.
