

A photograph of two women in a professional setting. One woman, with short curly hair and wearing a white shirt, is gesturing with her hands while speaking. The other woman, with long hair and wearing a pink turtleneck, is smiling and looking at the first woman. They appear to be in a collaborative meeting.

Help Create a More Inclusive and Diverse Community

Do you have a passion for work that makes a real difference in the lives of others?

Do you have experience working with individuals with intellectual or developmental disabilities?

Does the idea of helping them reach their goals bring you joy?

If you answered YES, consider becoming a provider of DDA services!

Our contracted providers help people with intellectual and developmental disabilities reach goals they set for themselves, such as: connecting with people, places and activities in their community; learning new skills; or helping their staff and family find solutions that create positive change.

Some Service Contract Opportunities Include:

- Community Engagement
- Environmental Adaptations
- Peer Mentoring
- Staff and Family Consultation

If you want to learn more about supporting individuals in your community, go to www.dshs.wa.gov/altsa/types-dda-contracts for information about available contracts, or scan the QR code.
