

Caregivers have heart and change lives for the better.

Discover how your compassion can lead to a meaningful career in caregiving.

If you care about others and want to make a difference, caregiving could be the right path for you. You don't need experience to get started. Caregivers are in high demand across Washington state, and the growing shortage is impacting every community.

Caregiver Careers Washington offers free support to help you become a paid caregiver. Workforce Navigators can explain your options, answer questions, and connect you with resources to get started. Their support makes it easier to take the first step toward a career with purpose. A career in caregiving.

Workforce Navigators can help you:

- Learn what caregiving really is and how to get started.
- Find training and certification programs near you.
- Explore different job options and career paths.
- Connect with local resources and support.

Learn more at CaregiverCareersWA.com

Put your compassion to work.

Take the next step in your caregiving journey.
Free support is available to help you get started.

Contact a Workforce Navigator

We're here to help you care for others and grow your career.
Connect with the Navigator serving your area in Washington or email caregivercareerswa@dshs.wa.gov for support.

Julie Gardner

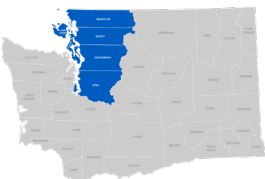

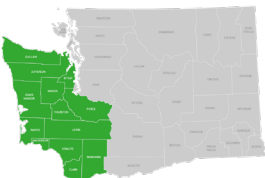

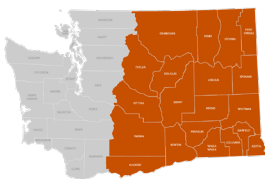

Central and Eastern Washington
360 280 1480 · julie.gardner@dshs.wa.gov

Yan Heng

Pierce County and Southwest Washington
360 584 7532 · yan.heng@dshs.wa.gov

Naomi Spector

King County and Northwest Washington
360 764 6320 · naomi.spector@dshs.wa.gov

Learn more at CaregiverCareersWA.com

